Dear Mr. Friedman: —

Was real delighted to hear from you and still more delighted to know that you arrived safely altho three hours late. But you mention the trip as having been horrible — in what way? Ma, ah sure do hope 'yo' all didn't had to push de train, did 'yo'?

I have not had the opportunity to visit your folks since that Sunday previous to your you, for it will bring you more before the public eye. I feel confident that you will positively succeed; but honestly _____?

But, please — let me apologize again, and again, ask for forgiveness; I simply couldn't let it pass by. Yet, you can rest assured when I hear that you are complicated in our law-making machinery I shall know how you got there; by — being honest — of course!

It was my intention to answer sooner, but various little leasing. Mrs Rose called me up during the week, and, as I wasn't home, I managed to get Rose at Gumble's yesterday. I am going to spend Friday evening with Rose to see the Mardi Gras parade. It certainly is too bad you are unable to see it.

And your connections with Mr. John, I think are wonderful; it surely will give you the big start, which is more what you need than anything else at present. It will be much more to your advantage than the proposition the college offered things turned up to present, but if you come to town again I sure will be pleased to answer and I promise to do so soon.

Sincerely
Frances Levine.
